

LESTER REIFF WANTS EVIDENCE

He Sends a Letter to the English Jockey Club Stewards,

WHO HASTEN TO SEND REPLY

They Say See No Reason Why His Case Should Be Re-opened Now.

New York, Dec. 10.—When Lester Reiff was ruled out of the turf by the English Jockey Club stewards he sent a letter to them asking for any evidence they might have against him which was not produced at the time he was called before them for an explanation of his ride on De Lacey in the New Burna plate. His letter is as follows:

"The severity of the sentence which you have passed upon me, and the terrible importance on my life and will, justify me in appealing to you to state whether any evidence was brought before you showing that I had illicit transactions with the ring of betting agents of any description. If such evidence was brought before you, I claim from your sense of justice, to be informed of its nature so that I may rebut it and show it to be false. This, I am confident of doing. If your sentence was based exclusively on the evidence of those who saw the race and who formed the opinion that I did not do my best to win, my character will be much less affected than in the other case."

Following is the reply of the stewards just received from London:

In reply to your letter, I am directed by the stewards of the Jockey Club to inform you that after careful consideration of the circumstances they see no grounds for re-opening your case, and have, therefore, nothing to add to the notice published in the Racing Calendar of October 3.

The stewards regret that there should have been some delay in replying, but it was caused by the absence abroad of the senior steward.

Lester Reiff and his brother Palmer will leave for their home in San Jose, California, today. Before they go Reiff will ask W. C. Whitney's advice about applying for an English license to ride next season.

A FREE-FOR-ALL

Startling Termination to a Prize Fight in London.

London, Dec. 9.—Charlie McKeever of Tallalgha and Jack Palmer met at Newcastle-on-Tyne, last night in what was to have been a fifteen-round bout for a purse of £300. McKeever weighed 160 lbs. and Palmer 165 lbs. McKeever fouled repeatedly during the first round, McKeever clearly outclassing him. At the beginning of the second round the crowd broke into the ring and a general fight ensued. The referee, declaring the fight "No contest" made his escape.

London sporting papers this morning have the last night's fight between McKeever and Palmer as a disgraceful fiasco. They say that both Palmer and McKeever continuously infringed the rules and ignored the warnings of the referee. They indulged in what Sporting Life calls a regular Western barroom scuffle. Finally the referee stopped the fight. The police jumped on the stage and threatened both the pugilists with arrest. A scene of pandemonium followed.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT

Slosson Is Defeated by Sutton—Experts Were Surprised.

New York, Dec. 9.—The surprise of the international billiard tournament occurred in the afternoon game between George Sutton, Chicago, and George Slosson of New York. Slosson having won the bank, failed to score at the start, and Sutton by careful nursing and open table play ran up 35 points. He followed this up by scores of 16, 22, 45, 20, 50 and 38, while Slosson was unable to make any double figures. At the conclusion of the seventh inning the score stood 429 to 25 in Sutton's favor. From this point to the end of the game Slosson had no chance of winning, although he played desperately. Sutton won the game in an unfinished run of 24 in his twenty-ninth inning. Sutton, 400; Slosson, 138.

The game in the evening, which was between Schaefer of Chicago and Barutelli of France, was a very swift one. Schaefer, after his three days' rest, was in fine form and his nursing of the balls was equal to any of his best previous performances. He opened his play by showing wonderful dexterity. Barutelli, while badly beaten, played a first-class game. Schaefer will play Morningstar tomorrow afternoon and in the evening he will meet his old rival, Slosson. Score: Schaefer, 400; Barutelli, 203.

BRUSH'S SCHEME

Would Like National Baseball League to Have Unlimited Power.

New York, Dec. 10.—John T. Brush, of Indianapolis, and Cincinnati, who is here to attend the National League baseball meeting, hopes to change radically the control of baseball to give the National League complete power of all clubs and players outside of the American League. From a reliable source it has been learned that Brush's scheme is to abolish the office of president of the league and instead appoint a board of control on the order of the club, or the A. U., only with much greater powers. Brush's idea is to have the players licensed and registered like the jockeys and athletes, and to be at all times subject to the control of the board.

REVOLVER THAT SHOT LINCOLN

The assassination of President McKinley recalled to George Plowman, the well-known theatrical architect of this city, the murder of President Lincoln by John Wilkes Booth, at Ford's theatre, Washington, D. C., on April 14, 1865. Mr. Plowman is the possessor of the Derringer, a small velvet pocket revolver, from which Booth fired the fatal shot.

"Several times it has been doubted that the Derringer which I have is the one which was used by Booth," said Mr. Plowman, "but there is absolutely no doubt that it is the same weapon. Three or four years after the shooting, while George K. Goodwin and myself were running the Walnut Street theatre in this city, the stage carpenter, who was working at Ford's theatre the night of the assassination, but in his appearance at the Walnut Street theatre. He informed Mr. Goodwin that he had been friends for many years in a confidential manner with the assassin, Booth. He said that Booth had used to murder Lincoln."

"The reason he had not said anything about it prior to that time," said, "was because he was afraid of being arrested. The carpenter said he picked it up on the stage of Ford's theatre after Booth had fled to Virginia. He pocketed the weapon and kept it in his secret. He drew up a statement of the occurrence and signed it in our presence. He then gave the Derringer to Mr. Goodwin. When Mr. Goodwin died his widow made me a present of the weapon, together with the stage carpenter's signed statement."

Mr. Plowman prizes the weapon very highly and no amount of money could purchase it.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

WANTED NO WORDS

The residents of Lawnview avenue were visited by two hucksters a few mornings ago. Each of the hucksters had a wagonload of "garden sars," and each wagon was drawn by a horse that had been better days.

The first huckster was a man of strong vocal attainments. He belted forth the nature of his goods in a voice that penetrated between the pickets of the side gates and meandered clear around to the back doors.

It was a large, clear voice that left nobody in doubt as to the freshness of his vegetables and the ripeness of his berries.

The second huckster, who followed the first at a discreet distance, was not gifted vocally. His mild voice, however, was far-reaching.

"Po-ta-toes, kabbages, onions, strawberries, raspberries, ripe currants," shouted the first huckster.

"Ve haf de same on dis vaggin," cried the second huckster.

And so they bawled down the street, the first huckster fiercely yelling:

"Po-ta-toes, kabbages, onions, strawberries, raspberries, ripe currants!"

The second huckster mildly adding:

"Ve haf de same on dis vaggin."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

NOW IS THE TIME

Seasons change. We can't change them. We can't prevent the coming of cold and damp airs.

But we can prevent the sore throats, the coughs, colds and lung troubles by taking Scott's Emulsion. Nothing does more to make the tender throat tough. Nothing gives such strength to weak lungs.

Don't take risks—when it's easy to be safe. Now is the season for taking Scott's Emulsion in season.

We'll send you a little to try it. Write to Scott & Downe, 409 Pearl street, New York.

A. W. McCUNE IN GREAT DANGER

Exciting and Perilous Experiences Of Well Known Business Man.

DODGES REBELS' BULLETS.

In a Letter to Mrs. McCune He Relates Incidents Surrounding the Capture of Colon.

Mrs. A. W. McCune is in receipt of two letters from her husband dated at Colon, Colombia, Nov. 21, and Nov. 23. They set forth the exciting and perilous experience that Mr. McCune has passed through while on the way to his mine. He was in the heart of the insurrection in Colombia and was in Colon when the rebels took that city. The first letter is as follows:

"I arrived here Tuesday, and find that I have got to lie here eight or nine days. I move as so mad in all my life, as I could have saved the week in New York and then made the same connections, as the other boat from New York will arrive here before we can sail.

"To add to the pleasure of the attack, the rebels attacked the town the night we got here and captured it. I was down town about a quarter of a mile from the hotel when the firing commenced, and the sensation was anything but pleasant. There was another man with me, and the firing was gradually spreading all over the city, when I concluded it was time for us to make tracks of being hit by a stray bullet. We ran to the hotel when the firing commenced, and the sensation was anything but pleasant.
